1515 CHOPHOUSE & BAR, JINGAN

SHANGRI-LA HOTEL 🍷🍷🍷

1515 牛排馆

1218 Middle Yan'an Road Jing An Kerry Centre on West Nanjing Road, Shanghai, 200020
+86 21 22038888

<https://www.shangri-la.com/cn/shanghai/jinganshangrila/>

Cuisine: Steakhouse

Wine list by Wang Fengyuan

Wine on list: 996 (17 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 1000 RMB

Situated in Shanghai's JingAn Shangri-la Hotel has long sported three glasses in these Awards. It's an exemplary list, starting with a history of wine and an extensive offering by the glass and including many of the world's finest. The classy list includes an impressive choice of Chinese's finest, many outstanding wines from Italy, Spain, Portugal, Germany, France and around the world. A veritable feast for wine lovers. 2021 Best Wine list in Mainland China.

1929 BY GUILLAUME GALLIOT 餐厅 🍷🍷🍷

1/F, West Side, Jinbei Building, No.59 Maoming South Road, Huangpu District, Shanghai 200001

021-60707029

<https://1929bygg.com/about/>

Cuisine: French Cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Louis Li/Ms Vivian Chan

Wine on list: 420 (18 by the glass)

By the glass: 90- 1680 RMB

This new Shanghai restaurant has an impressive wine list with a focus on France and good representation from Italy and around the world. The list by the glass will satisfy most and includes wine tastings of three and five glasses. Their Spice Road offers bold cocktails to represent the flavours of the east and the west.

HANGZHOU 🍷🍷🍷

湖滨28中餐厅

28 Hubin Road, Hangzhou, Zhejiang 310000

57187791234

<http://hangzhou.hyatts.cn/>

Cuisine: Hangzhou Cuisine

Wine list by Henry Huo

Wine on list: 314 (14 by the glass)

By the glass: 88- 280 RMB

There is a comforting, traditional approach in the 28 Hubin Road wine list, with a masterful showcase of revered wineries, responsible for putting celebrated wine regions on the world map. Think of Cloudy Bay in Marlborough, Gaja in Barbaresco, and Bodega Catena Zapata in Argentina, to name a few. Amongst the exploration of the old continent, the Americas and Oceania, the history and new guard of China are in full display, where traditional yellow wine, dating back thousands of years, happily co-exists with modern wine ventures like Château Nine Peaks and Domaine Franco-Chinois.

8½ OTTO E MEZZO BOMBANA MACAU,

GALAXY MACAU 🍷🍷🍷

1031, 1/F, Galaxy Macau™ Integrated Resort, Cotai, Macau (SAR) N/A

853 8886 2169

<https://www.galaxymacau.com/dining/restaurants/8-1-2-otto-e-mezzo-bombana/>

Cuisine: Italian

Wine list by Mr. Timothy Chan 陈靖东

Wine on list: 1111 (19 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 390 MOP

Don't be fooled by the Italian-leaning menu and the (excellent) all-Italian by-the-glass offering – this list has plenty on offer from France, too. Six pages of Grande Marques are supported by some exciting names in grower Champagne, while Burgundy and Bordeaux get priority status when it comes to reds. Getting back on theme, Italian reds go big by way of Barolo and Barbaresco — pages and pages of them! – but there are gems to be found from very-hip-right-now regions like Etna and Sardinia, too. Depending on the exchange rate you're working with, you might even pick up an icon wine for a song, relatively speaking, with hard-to-find back vintages of Opus One, Rayas, Vega Sicilia and even Penfolds Grange on the go.

8 1/2 OTTO E MEZZO BOMBANA

SHANGHAI 🍷🍷🍷

6th - 7th Floor, Associate Mission Building, No.169,
Yuanmingyuan Road, Huangpu District, Shanghai 200002
021-60872890

www.ottoemezzobombana.com/branch/shanghai

Cuisine: Italian

Wine list by Ervin Ong / Tony Wang / Ada Zhang

Wine on list: 494 (18 by the glass)

By the glass: 160- 650 RMB

For more than a decade this restaurant has welcomed patrons with excellent food and an impressive wine list. There is a focus on Italy, naturally enough, with both the food and the wines but there's plenty to delight from France and around the world.

AJI, MGM COTAI 🍷🍷🍷

雅吉

Avenida da Nave Desportiva, Macau, Macau (SAR) 999078
853 8806 8888

<https://www.mgm.mo/en/cotai/dining/aji>

Cuisine: Asian Bistronomy

Wine list by Andy Tam/Rick Wang

Wine on list: 1292 (16 by the glass)

By the glass: 80- 280 MOP

Offering contemporary international cuisine with an Asian lean, this oft awarded establishment takes a similar approach to its world-class 1300-bottle list, which tours the globe from the EU to Central America, Yountville to Yunan. With such an vast selection of flavour pairings on the plate – think lobster with salted egg and Comté, or lamb shanks with black curry and orzo – ordering by the glass might be your best bet, and boy-oh-boy is there some fun to be had. A Silver Heights Ningxia sparkling to start, perhaps, before a hard-to-find dry Vouvray? Or maybe a Peruvian tannat is more your style? Whatever your journey, you'll be in safe hands here.

ALAIN DUCASSE AT MORPHEUS, MORPHEUS, CITY OF DREAMS MACAU 澳

門新濠天地摩珀斯 🍷🍷🍷

杜卡斯餐厅

3/F, Morpheus, City of Dreams, Estrada do Istmo, Cotai,
Macau (SAR) 999078

+853 8868 3432

<https://www.cityofdreamsmacau.com/en/dining/alain-ducasse-morpheus>

Cuisine: French

Wine list by Alexandre Paollilo

Wine on list: 920 (28 by the glass)

By the glass: 95- 1380 MOP

Like it's Michelin-legendary namesake (21 stars and counting!), the wine list at Alain Ducasse at Morpheus in Macau is very Frenchy, very chic. The art-deco-inspired list runs 900+ bottles long, mostly top names from across France's finest AOCs. The Bordeaux and Burgundy selections are particularly exciting, with partial verticals from the likes of Latour, DRC and Lafite Rothschild going back 40-odd years. World wines are not an afterthought, either, with Australian names like Tolpuddle and William Downie at home alongside Gran Reserva Rioja.

ALTITUDE BAR, GRAND HYATT KUNMING

昆明君悦酒店海拔酒吧

No.1 Chongli Street, Panlong District, Kunming, Yunnan
650051

87168503862

<https://www.hyatt.com/grand-hyatt/zh-CN/kmggh-grand-hyatt-kunming>

Cuisine: Izakaya

Wine list by Ms. Jeanne Zhao

Wine on list: 118 (12 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 738 RMB

Led by a very welcome deep dive into the wine of Shangri-La, the Altitude Bar list goes beyond just another collection of wines and drinks. Winery and vintage profiles add colour here too, capping off what is a thoroughly global selection of wines and drinks that ranges from some well-picked Chilean wines through to a sublime Sordo Barolo delightfully available by the glass.

AMAZING CHINESE CUISINE 🍷🍷🍷

菁禧荟

Zhongshan East 2nd Road No.600, Huangpu District, Shanghai

Cuisine: Chaozhou Cuisine

Wine list by Ms. Annie Yuan

Wine on list: 550 (14 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 1480 RMB

If the view from the restaurant hadn't taken my breath away, I suspect perusing the list would have. Here is a stylish list of wine of remarkable quality, carefully chosen and well-presented. In the splendid opulence of the French-focused list, it's great to see wines from China given an honourable place.

AMBER BY RICHARD EKKEBUS, MANDARIN ORIENTAL, THE LANDMARK HONG KONG 🍷🍷🍷

852 2132 0066

<https://www.mandarinoriental.com/en/hong-kong/the-landmark/dine/amber>

Cuisine: Contemporary French Fine Dining

Wine list by Mr Dirk Chen

Wine on list: 1850 (66 by the glass)

By the glass: 178- 1500 HKD

China's Wine List of the Year – Hong Kong, Macau & Taiwan

Best Wine List - Hong Kong SRA

China's Best Hotel Restaurant Wine List

China's Best Champagne List

China's Best Listing of French Wines

At Amber, it's like stepping into a wine museum: one can only quietly observe, in awe, the wonders of an amazingly well-put-together collection of fine pieces of art, in this case, wine. The list opens with an extensive collection of Dom Perignon labels, followed by a diverse range of other renowned labels and new players from Champagne. It concludes with a concise list of the best sparkling wines from Europe and the UK. And this is only the first part of the list. While France is the primary focus, with a deep exploration of most of its regions across many vintages (verticals and back vintages are a common theme in this list), there is a plethora of other wine regions, from all over the world, explored and showcased with the utmost dedication. Additional information next to old wines, such as "ex-domaine", "top shoulders", "soiled label", makes you feel that the money you're spending on this wine list is a good investment and that the sommeliers looking after such an impressive collection of wines are serious professionals. It's undoubtedly a hedonistic wine list, showing the deep knowledge and passion of the sommeliers. The fortified and sweet wine selections are impressive, too, as is the Cognac. But there is also an original aspect to it, including a natural wine section and an investigation of less explored wine regions such as Croatia.

AMBRE CIEL

珀餐厅

1st Floor, Meifan Plaza, 588 Xixi Road, Xihu District,
Hangzhou, Zhejiang 310012
021 193 5755 8063

N/A

Cuisine: French Food

Wine list by Mr. Martin Liu

Wine on list: 0 (23 by the glass)

By the glass: 118- 360 RMB

Ambre Ciel is a French restaurant based in Hangzhou, Zhejiang and offers a good range of French wines to its patrons. It is particularly strong in champagne and the finest reds from Burgundy and Bordeaux as well as some good whites from those regions. The rest of the list takes patrons around other parts of France and Europe as well as dipping into choices wines from other countries. China is modestly represented. Fans of whiskies will likely insist on a dram from the extensive collection.

AOLU SHANGHAI

上海奥庐

2nd Floor, Yonglong Commercial Building, No. 1298, Huaihai
Middle Road, Xuhui District, Shanghai 200000
18916387421

N/A

Cuisine: Jiangzhe Cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Chen Zi Long

Wine on list: 300 (12 by the glass)

By the glass: 155- 310 RMB

This new wave restaurant in Shanghai features a range of wines from producers interested in cutting edge viticulture from around Europe. There's a dozen European wines by the glass, sparkling wines from around the world and a sizable range of Champagnes. The list then explores cutting edge viticulture from around the world from established and emerging winemakers.

AOLU SHENZHEN

奥庐

Floor, Building A, Gemdale Viseen Center, Nanshan District,
Shenzhen, Guangdong 518000
13825471858

N/A

Cuisine: Jiangzhe Cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Chen Zi Long

Wine on list: 250 (14 by the glass)

By the glass: 95- 280 RMB

This is a restaurant that works to seasonal ingredients with a focus on seafood, and the wine list certainly works well in supplying some terrific wine matching opportunities. Let's start with the listing of 5 Chinese white wines and 5 Chinese red wines - consider this your first port of call - or the Champagne and sparkling wines from a well-rounded selection of big, small houses and growers.. The focus throughout the list is France, particularly Burgundy, with support from Italy, Spain, Germany, Austria. But as you work your way through 250 wines, keep an eye out for a wider world of wine with New Zealand, Australia, Argentina, USA and Lebanon represented.

APARTMENT208, PARK HYATT SUZHOU

悦阁

Suzhou Industrial Park, Xizhou Road No.69, Suzhou, Jiangsu
215000

0512-86661234

<https://www.hyatt.com/en-US/hotel/china/park-hyatt-suzhou/suzph/dining>

Cuisine: Mediterranean diet

Wine list by Mr. Milo Gu

Wine on list: 172 (14 by the glass)

By the glass: 128- 188 RMB

Those looking for evidence that the Eastern province of Jiangsu is on the move need look no further than the quality of this Park Hyatt wine list. It packs a punch for its relatively small size. Share the Love packages will surprise and delight many, as will the range of seasonal cocktails. By the glass includes Copenhagen Sparkling Tea and a couple of interesting local wines. The list is predominantly French with a pleasing selection of Chinese table wines and an interesting range from around the world. The range of whisky is extensive.

APRIL PUFFER

肆月河豚（悠唐国际店）

3rd Floor, Building B, Youtang Shopping Center, Chaowai
South Street, Chaoyang District, Beijing 100020
15011478909

N/A

Cuisine: Huaiyang cuisine

Wine list by Terroir Sommelier Studio

Wine on list: 25 (4 by the glass)

By the glass: 59- 99 RMB

It must be quite a challenge to craft a drinks list that supports the singular Pufferfish focus at April Puffer, but this tight selection is well up to the task. Charismatic Champagne, Zibibbo and textural white wines punctuate this eclectic offering, with a carefully curated range of mainly wines that move from crisp and minerally right through to a surprisingly decadent range of full-flavoured Bordeaux and powerful reds. A larger selection, especially beyond wine, would be very welcome here too.

THE APRON, GALAXY HOTEL

蠔吧扒房

G108, Estrada da Baia de Nossa, Senhora da Esperanca, Macau,
Macau (SAR) 999078

853 8883 2221

<https://www.galaxymacau.com/zh-hant/dining/restaurants/the-apron/>

Cuisine: Grill & Oyster Bar

Wine list by Mr. Tommy Tong 湯嘉傑

Wine on list: 42 (15 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 378 MOP

Located in Macau's sprawling Galaxy resort complex, this casual steak and seafood grill flies its oysters — and it's wine selection — in from the far corners of the globe. The one-page list has a sparkling wine focus ranging from Tasmanian fizz to blanc de noirs, blanc de blancs and rosé Champagnes. A short selection of still wines are people pleasers, with signature grapes from signature regions, think NZ sauv blanc, German riesling and Argentinian malbec.

ASA SHANGHAI

Room 102, No.2354 Xietu Road, Xuhui District, Shanghai
200032
13701620591
N/A

Cuisine: Asian cuisine
Wine list by Mr. Alan Chang
Wine on list: 39 (85 by the glass)
By the glass: 30- 180 RMB

The focus on this ASA list is on sake: the range of regions presented is as good as it gets. There's Chinese Rice Wine, too, with a focus on those made using Japanese brewing methods; a range of classic wines from around the world, a listing of impressive Chinese wines, Japanese Whisky as well as some interesting non-alcoholic beverages.

AURORA, ALTIRA MACAU 澳門新濠鋒

奧罗拉

Level 10, F&B Tower, Altira Macau, Avenida de Kwong Tung, Taipa, Macau (SAR) 999078
+853 2886 8868

<https://www.altiramacau.com/en/dining/aurora>

Cuisine: Italian & Steak House
Wine list by David Tavares
Wine on list: 434 (15 by the glass)
By the glass: 55- 238 MOP

Italian-leaning restaurant Aurora, which resides on level 10 of Macau's Altira hotel in the heart of Taipa, has a sleek, contemporary vibe. Cheese, olive oil and San Marzano tomatoes are flown in from Italy, as much the of the wine selection, particularly pizza and pasta-friendly reds from Tuscany and Piedmont. If you are so inclined, the list opens with a vertical of Latour (1945–05) and sports single bottles of big hitters from Bordeaux, but don't overlook the Portuguese reds. With a mix of icon wines and boutique producers, you're sure to find something delicious to write home about.

AUX BEAUX ARTS, MGM MACAU

寶雅座

Avenida Dr. Sun Yat Sen, Nape, Macau (SAR) 999078
853 8802 8888
<https://www.mgm.mo/en/macau/dining/aux-beaux-arts>
Cuisine: French
Wine list by Summer Liu
Wine on list: 1586 (22 by the glass)
By the glass: 80- 860 MOP

What if you place all the attention on producers instead of regions and subregions? Aux Beaux Arts dare to try, shedding a light on those who have carried the beacon of quality in those wine regions, celebrated and loved over generations, and, I suspect, for another century to come. Think of every, or almost every, key player in France; you'll find it here. The collection of producers, their best cuvée, and a plethora of vintages are, quite frankly, jaw-dropping. There is also a lot of exploration across Italy, Australia and the Americas. Looking at the average vintage showcased, not only in classic regions like Bordeaux and Burgundy, but also in Portugal, with its red wine collection, one of the best that I've ever seen, I was expecting something from 100 years ago. I wasn't disappointed when perusing the port selection, and an almost 90-year-old Yquem didn't go unnoticed either. But to see a Seppeltsfeld from 1888. Well, that brought tears to my eyes.

AVANT

109A, Shennan Circuits Building, OCT East Road Nanshan District, Shenzhen, Guangdong 518000
+86 18998996444
<https://mp.weixin.qq.com/s/dhjnSmHJWclBVwLjFXqWVw>
Cuisine: Modern Cuisine
Wine list by HuiLing Wen
Wine on list: 560 (19 by the glass)
By the glass: 258- 588 RMB

Best Wine List - Southern China (Shenzhen etc)

A wine tour of the world awaits at Avant. This cleverly presented wine list paves the way across the major wine producing countries with maps highlighting the regions covered in each category, a handy way to path your wine progress matched beautifully to the creative, "modern" cuisine served. Krug champagne starts the journey - not a bad introduction! - with a range of Champagnes back to 1990. The Champagne list looks to both the big houses and smaller growers, it's a policy employed throughout the list as some of the world's biggest wine stars are nicely balanced by a group of bright, artisanal producers making quality wines. Highlights are plenty starting with Burgundy, but do seek out the Spanish and German white wines and Italian and North American reds, while the Chinese wine selection is essential viewing. Natural and orange wines are listed and this is one list that takes its rosé seriously.

AZUR, SHANGRI-LA HOTEL, BEIJING

聚餐厅

29 Zizhuyuan Road, Haidian District, Beijing 100020

010 68412211

https://www.shangri-

la.com/beijing/shangrila/dining/restaurants/azur/

Cuisine: Southern French cuisine

Wine list by Eric Yang

Wine on list: 284 (11 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 135 RMB

Inside Beijing's Shangri-La Hotel sits Azur, offering Mediterranean-style cuisine that plays nicely with this broad-reaching wine list. The considered selections lean French, with a focus on Burgundy and Bordeaux (including some seriously coveted wines), but so many other top regions and releases are offered. Think Germany and Argentina, Japan, New Zealand, Australia and beyond. That's not to mention a focus on the wines of China across all styles, which adds interest to what is already an enticing list.

BAKERY BY THE GRAND

Shop 332-333, 3/F, Hopewell Mall, 183 Queen's Road East, Wan Chai, Hong Kong (SAR) N/A

852-25250018

<https://thegrandhk.com/en/grand-bakery>

Cuisine: International food

Wine list by Henry Chang

Wine on list: 355 (7 by the glass)

By the glass: 88- 100 HKD

Bakery by the Grand is a cafe, yes, but it's a super fancy one – think pigeon wellington and honey croissant bread pudding. It's wine list, written by award-winning sommelier Henry Chang, draws on the buying power of its parent company, the hospitality group behind Le Salon de Thé de Joël Robuchon. From high-end Champagne to rare Bordeaux and Japanese sake, the international selection is accompanied by recent wine scores from Wine Spectator and Wine Advocate, plus historical scores from the late Michael Broadbent, where applicable. On weekdays between 5 and 8pm, beer and wines by the glass are two-for-one.

BAO LI XUAN, BVLGARI HOTEL SHANGHAI

宝丽轩

Lane 108 North Shanxi Road, Jing'an District, Shanghai 200085

Cuisine: Cantonese cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Adrian Zhang

Wine on list: 350 (21 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 650 RMB

Bao Li Xuan has an outstanding selection of wines and has been listed as a finalist in this year's awards. The tribute to three great women of organic wines - Elisabetta Foradori, Francesca Balestrieri and Arianna Occhipinti - is timely and appropriate. The Champagne listing is outstanding - substantial and carefully chosen. The European selection is impressive - none more so than that of Italy. The large format section will appeal, too.

Wine on list: 81 (13 by the glass)

By the glass: 98- 128 RMB

This classy wine bar in the tower of hotel Niccolo in Suzhou, Jiangsu offers a classy menu and a collection of wines from around the world that offers excellent value. There's an extensive range of cocktails that may prove hard to resist; and plenty of Champagne. You'll not need to have visited the Scottish Highlands to be wildly impressed by its range of highly desirable malt whiskys.

Cuisine: Mediterranean

Wine list by Ms. Sliver Jin

Wine on list: 58 (6 by the glass)

By the glass: 65- 185 RMB

A modest selection of just 58 wines hosts wines from Europe - and beyond - with France delivering some of the more well-priced options from Burgundy, Roussillon, Loire, Provence and Alsace. Indeed, prices are fair right across the list and encourage plenty of discovery alongside the classic Mediterranean food menu with dishes like beef Bourguignon, garlic prawns and beef lasagna. Perhaps an aged South African Journey's End chardonnay, Aussie riesling from top producer, Mount Horrocks, an easy going barbera from Piedmont maker, Bruno Rocca or a Premier Cru red Burgundy from Domaine Lucien Boillot?

Wine list by Mr. Lianfu Zhang

Wine on list: 182 (27 by the glass)

By the glass: 35- 128 RMB

What pleasure to see a wine list that manages to blend in iconic Chablis or top-flight Chinese reds with a range of affordable labels, with an especially commendable range of options for drinking by the glass at a range of prices. The Bistro Demi wine list cleverly blends in some semi-sweet listings too, which is an oft-overlooked part of a great wine list. Light reds and juicy whites play a big part here, which is a clever nod to pairing with the snack-laden menu.

Wine list by Mr. Nathan Xie

Wine on list: 284 (20 by the glass)

By the glass: 38- 435 RMB

The cuisine is traditional Italian and while Italian wines are a feature on this list, it is very much a list promoting plenty of wine choice. From some smart, aromatic Austrian and German white wines and a full range of Burgundies, through to some spice-laden Southern Rhône reds and a selection of nicely aged Barolos, this list is full of tempting wines from both the Old and New Worlds. And for your cannoli and tiramisu to finish, looks no further than the Sicilian Passito di Pantelleria from Donnafugata.

Black Bamboo sets out an impressive array of wines, focusing on French, in tune with its relaxed bistro pasta and pizza (and more) fare. The Champagne listing is a real feature looking to both the big houses and names as well as Grower Champagnes, offering some real vintage beauties with age including Dom Pérignon back to 1993, and a serious look at Champagne rosé and Blanc de Blancs. Expect to go deep into the red wines of Burgundy and Bordeaux before even glimpsing the white selection which is relatively modest in comparison. Italy, Spain, China and parts of both the New and Old Worlds make up the remainder of the list.

The selection by the glass alone is world-class, with the ability to drink icons like Coche-Dury or Romanée-Conti as a single glass, a true indulgence. Importantly, the Blackswan selection isn't bound solely to French wines, either, covering top-drawer New World wines to pair with the exceptional Châteauneuf-du-Pape horizontals. With a cuisine that specialises in Zhejiang style cooking - one of the eight great regional culinary traditions of China - some food and wine matching advice might be advisable. Fortunately, help is at hand here with the sommelier offering a large number of dishes with each matched to three individual wines. There is plenty of choice. It makes for a handy introduction to this smart wine list that looks to both the Old and New Worlds for its inspiration. The selection is quite diverse from an old vine Barossa Valley semillon, an aged from Qingdao and a classic Bordeaux First Growth to a South African pinotage, this is very much a list about discovery.

Galaxy Macau's new Peking duck restaurant pays homage to Beijing and Huaiyang cuisines with wood-fired cooking and table side carving. By the glass, a short but sharp sommeliers' selection that represents top regions and their signature varieties, think Marlborough (NZ) sauvignon blanc, Yarra Valley (Aus) pinot noir and Spanish Rioja. Tea is a big focus here, with prize-winning, aged and fermented brews listed alongside detailed tasting notes. There are Bordeaux and Burgundy stalwarts, of course, but wider world wines shine on the bottle list.

From the reference guide to each wine's fruit and acidity levels to the percentage of grapes in blends, the detail of the Bon Beouf selection is a very welcome part of what makes this a successful list. Importantly, accessibility is a key focus here, with a selection that leans towards more accessible and diverse flavours rather than just emphasising Bordeaux and Burgundy. A special mention to the Champagne selection, which is commendable for a steakhouse focus.

The newly minted Capalla hotel at Galazy Macau had not quite opened its doors at time of judging, so fresh is the paint on this Moinard Bétaille-designed residence. On the menu at it's Botanica restaurant, a mod-international selection of soups (seafood and tarragon), lobster rolls and shareable mains along the fancy roast chicken, barbecued wagyu route. The succinct 80-bottle list is primarily old-school French with a few cool kids in the mix, think Uruguayan albariño and Central Otago pinot noir.

It's hard to miss the focus of the Cai Yi Xuan wine list which showcases a set of wine pairing 'rules' with wines that will fit perfectly for certain parts of the menu. This ambition is well showcased with a wine selection that ranges from rare 50-year-old Bordeaux to luscious Piemonte Moscato. This pairing-first list idea is super helpful for any diner and helps navigate the list nicely. Lovers of mature wines will particularly appreciate this list as well.

By the glass: 80- 180 MOP

While the menu at Casa Don Alfonso, the stylish hotel restaurant at the Grand Lisboa Macau, takes it's cues from Italy's Sorrento Peninsula and Amalfi Coast, the wine list is a decidedly global offering. We don't usually get caught up in the numbers, but it is worth noting that the wine list runs some 640 pages across 1700+ bottles. Where applicable, each entry features recent wine scores from Wine Spectator and Wine Advocate, plus historical scores from the late Michael Broadbent. Someone has done their research. It's clear that cellaring is of utmost importance here, with categories that traverse France, Italy, Spain, Germany, the USA and Australia (among others) stacked with mature examples.

If you like classicism and vintage, then Chun is the place for you. In here, an exhaustive and well-curated collection of the best names in the business spanning multiple vintages and centuries, the majority of which are back vintages that have become legendary in the stardom of the wine world. It's impossible not to wonder how a 1855 Taylor's Port will taste, or how a 1997 Livio Felluga Sossó, a unique Friulan blend, is ageing. The thing is, loving wine is like loving art, and ideally, you would want to admire both classic and modern art. You can do that in here. But Chun, it's not all about France, as the restaurant collection delves deep into other historic and upcoming wine regions, like Peru. China is thoroughly celebrated, with the who-who of wineries, as well Baijiu, Haungjiu and tea.

Wine on list: 550 (13 by the glass)

By the glass: 108- 218 RMB

Wines by the glass is a small list of value for money wines from around the globe. This is followed by a collection of 15 wines from China and a solid collection of Champagnes and some representatives of bubbly from Franciacorta and Kent. The sizable range of both European whites and reds will impress - as will those wines representing important wine producers from around the globe. It's a thoughtful, wide-ranging collection.

Wine on list: 211 (19 by the glass)

By the glass: 128- 368 RMB

A serious wine list requires an equally serious listing of aperitifs and post-dinner digestifs and, fortunately, Club House has both. Make your own sangria or enjoy a signature cocktail, maybe a Hidden Bay, and contemplate the wines to be enjoyed. The numerous Sommelier's Selections can take some of the hard work out of your hands, or ponder a list that celebrates the best of France with a strong supporting cast that includes Germany, Italy, USA, South America and a smattering of New Zealand wines. But, do pause over the list of Chinese wines offered - it's a strong group of quality wine producers. And dip into the enticing collection of sweet wines and fortifieds for a suitable partner for the crème brûlée and other desserts. Maybe a Weltachs beerenauslese from the Pfalz?

Conde is the recently opened fifth floor restaurant in the Regent on the Bund with a smallish yet carefully thought out wine list. China is well-represented with French wines dominating alongside other Europeans and important producers from around the world. The list by the glass is small yet is supplemented by half bottles and magnums. The Champagne selection impresses.

Glamour abounds at Din Yue Ji Pin in Taichung, Taiwan; and the restaurant design is just the beginning. With over 600 wines available there's a glorious selection to pair with the traditional Cantonese cuisine. A truly international wine list leaves no stone unturned with options from countries rarely seen on wine lists; from Switzerland to Georgia. There's also a small selection from Taiwan. Particularly impressive is the range of Bordeaux and Burgundy.

Wine on list: 189 (16 by the glass)

By the glass: 75- 200 RMB

Dukes Wines & Grill at The Langham Shenzhen likes to flaunt some mighty big wine names with well-aged examples populating the list. You may be tempted by the collection of impressive wines listed under Bordeaux Cellarage with its Le Pins, Petrus, Ausone and Montrose reds dating back to the 90s, but expect to pay top prices accordingly. For many of us, opportunities will lie elsewhere, and there is a strong grouping of wines from Europe and the rest of the world, with some exciting local Chinese included to explore. Not all wines come with information on grape variety, so you may need some sommelier assistance. To finish, head to the large collection of spirits and liqueurs where the number of whiskies will undoubtedly impress.

Cuisine: Chinese Cantonese

Wine list by Jeffrey Cheang

Wine on list: 17500 (15 by the glass)

By the glass: 160- 520 MOP

When you visit The Eight for the very first time and you ask for the wine list, you might have many of your "first wine time" moments. It might be your first time seeing German Riesling having its own wine list within a wine list, with over 100 pages featuring every imaginable producer and spanning two centuries. First time that you'll see so much Montrachet. First time you'll spot a Vouvray, from the one and only Marc Brédif, from 1893. Yes, that is not a typo. The first time that, alongside magnums of Petrus and Cheval Blanc that are 103 years old, you'll find some excellent Bordeaux, priced well and with glowing critic scores attached to them. It's a dichotomy that you'll love if you love wine. The wine collection of The Eight feels like a lifetime achievement, spanning centuries and countries, with more rare wines than you can ever imagine. And while you might consider going either for the legendary 1985 Sassicaia or the 1949 Prüm Wehlener Sonnenuhr, if you love fortified wines as much as I do (and they work so well with Chinese cuisine), wait to reach the Madeira page. Everything in there is from the 1900's and 1800's, with the oldest from 1795. Honestly, we live only once, and as much as I love to visit the hidden chamber of The Great Pyramid of Giza, I would prefer to sail back in time and open that bottle.

Wine list by Mr. Scott Duan and Mr. Eason Zhang

Wine on list: 102 (18 by the glass)

By the glass: 128- 268 RMB

An engaging small wine list that chooses to present wines according to style categories. It's a creative approach that works particularly well. Hence, look to categories such as Light & Fruity, Off-Dry & Aromatic, Medium Bodied & Vibrant, Full Bodied & Complex, etc., as your guide. Within each category a world of wine opens up with entries from Italy, France, China, California, New Zealand and beyond. Premium wines are included under their own category and a small selection is also available by the glass. In keeping with its Italian cuisine, expect some particularly delicious Italian wines on offer.

Wine list by Mr. Herry He

Wine on list: 215 (15 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 188 RMB

The Enco wine list has undergone an impressive increase in the number of wines featured, from 43 in 2024 to 215 this year. Similarly, wines by the glass has blossomed to 15 in number and is now one of the great features of the list, a place where you can try an Italian skin contact white made from the vitovska grape variety, a top New Zealand chardonnay, Chinese grechetto, or an impressive Gigondas red blend and more. The list centres around European wines, often seeking out wines rarely seen on lists - Champagnes from Vincent Couche and Vadin-Plateau, a cremant sparkling from the Jura, a Markus Molitor white capsule riesling) - together with some premium wines of note. Orange wines, natural wines and biodynamic wines feature, and the New World is also well catered for. Make the wine pairings page - the last page on the list - your first port of call. It contains some handy food and wine matches.

Wine list by Mr. John

Wine on list: 500 (13 by the glass)

By the glass: 88- 330 RMB

The sommelier has been hard at work building the Épanouir wine list to 500 wines, thereby offering an even deeper dive into the wines of France, led by Champagne, Burgundy, Bordeaux and the Rhône Valley. It's a super impressive listing, where well-priced wines meet some of the world's greatest wine names, considerably raising the profile of this Fujian wine bar where wine definitely takes pride of place. It is already fast gaining a reputation for its serious Champagne listing. This an educative selection, too, with maps and information on the history of leading regions and their styles. The approach follows through to Italy and a tight selection of Europeans followed by the USA and parts of the New World. This is also a list of discovery, particularly Chinese wines. Look them up and enjoy.

Drawing on the best aspects of a Parisian bistro, the Bistronome offering presents a very welcome selection of French wines that go beyond the norm, including a range of wines produced in Paris itself. Importantly, the Bistronome selection feels accessible, right down to the clever choice to utilise a Coravin to access more premium wines by the glass. A tight collection of French eau de vie here serves as a final reminder of what is a smartly compiled list.

There's a lot to like – and discover – on the list at Five Foot Road. Diners are able to go any which way when it comes to the drinks to match the Sichuan cuisine here, whether it's a choice from the lengthy tea selection or showstopping French wines, or a bottle that's a little lesser known, like a Peruvian tannat, say, or Chinese cabernet. It's all too possible to splash out here in a big way, but much more accessible picks are sprinkled throughout the list, too.

Seafood is the focus at this aptly named eatery, which looks to the Mediterranean for menu inspiration and further afield for the 85-bottle wine selection. The list races from 0 to 100, kicking off with by-the-glass crowd pleasers by way of Zonin prosecco, William Fèvre Chablis and Luis Cañas Rioja before launching straight into bottles of 20+ year old Domaine de la Romanée Conti and premier cru Bordeaux. Outside of the EU is a short selection of South African, Australian, American and Argentinian options.

With a Spanish Fusion menu be prepared to search out some accompanying Spanish wines, maybe a sparkling Cava by the glass, a young garnacha blanc from Tarragona or a smart priced tempranillo from Rioja? Spanish wines are sprinkled across this world wine listing which is principally tuned to the wines of France. Moderate mark ups encourage customers to look wide and search out some wines they may not have tried before - always a good thing. Note that one of the real finds on the list can be found on the last few pages, a selection of six white and six red Burgundies served by the glass and by the half bottle. It's a well hidden little gem of a wine by the glass tasting matched well to the wines by the glass tastings offered at the start of the list.

Now in its third year, Fumée goes from strength to strength with a quality, exciting wine listing that works well whether you are after a well-priced, approachable wine or a world superstar -both can be found here. The cuisine is modern Chinese and the wines work well with a strong emphasis on chardonnay and pinot noir, in particular from France and around the world. The world list is explored succinctly and well by the glass where you can find a small Grower Champagne house, a smart white Burgundy from Vougeot, a Sicilian carricante, Australian nebbiolo and a red blend from the Canary Islands - that's a journey across the big world of wine right there. Of special note on this list is the selection of premium Chinese wines - check it out.

Wine list by Ms. Hannah Zhuang

Wine on list: 142 (15 by the glass)

By the glass: 60- 190 RMB

G Restaurant in the Grand Hyatt Hotel certainly boasts a "grand" wine listing where some of the world's biggest wine names dwell. They gather under the Sommelier Selection at the front of the list - Krug, Latour, Petrus, Ao Yun, Cheval Blanc and more. Quality is key here but it is set out across a broad range of countries, grape varieties, styles and price points. It is a broad canvas to work through in just 142 wines but some highlights include the white wine selection from New Zealand, Burgundy, Rhône Valley and the red wines of China, Italy, Spain and Chile. The best place to start some good drinking enjoyment is the excellent wines by the glass listing where the wine world is so succinctly explored.

The wines of France are a big feature on the wine list at Gem Garden, and prove more than suitable for matching to the Chaozhou food menu. This is definitely the place to come for Champagne and Burgundy with a comprehensive selection offered, especially so in vintage Champagnes going back to the 2004 vintage and a solid range of Premier Cru Burgundies, both chardonnay and pinot noir. A small but select group of world wines completes the list, but special mention goes to the care shown in the selection of Chinese wines, particularly in looking at a range from across the major regions of Ningxia, Shandong, Yunnan, Hebei and Xinjiang.

Cuisine: Fine French Restaurant

Wine list by Henry Wu 吴耀亨

Wine on list: 209 (17 by the glass)

By the glass: 118- 418 RMB

Both Gentle L's cuisine and wine list are fashioned towards fine French dining, with a particularly exciting selection of Champagne and Burgundy supported by a solid range of wines from some of France's main wine regions. The odd surprise will pop up such as the collection of Slovenian wines, the red wines from New Zealand, the Patagonian chardonnay and a strong showing of wines from South America. China shows a particularly enticing range of red wines, and do take time to cast an eye over the seriously good dessert wines from Germany, Italy, France, South Africa.

The list at Golden Court deftly jumps between the world's key regions – both old and new – with some serious standout selections. High rollers can certainly push the boat out here, with benchmark French wines among the temptations, but there's plenty of interest at the other end, too. The diversity of styles includes some Chinese highlights, and all of it works a treat with the refined, traditional Cantonese menu.

Cuisine: Contemporary Chinese-French Fusion Cuisine
Wine list by Mr. Xiaolong Li / Mr. Ao Yang
Wine on list: 97 (6 by the glass)
By the glass: 98- 158 RMB

Showcasing a careful balance between modern and classical labels, the Granvista selection treads that fine line between feeling contemporary and embracing diversity, supported by a well-curated by-the-glass list. A special mention to the Ponsot collection and a quality array of whisky to add colour to this offering too.

Cuisine: Western Restaurant
Wine list by Ms. Lisa Li
Wine on list: 527 (24 by the glass)
By the glass: 58- 1380 RMB

Located on level 79 of Shangri-La Hotel in Beijing, the views at Grill 79 are as lofty as the premium world wines that populate its drinks list. The range is diverse, with selections from up-and-coming boutique wineries as well as major wineries from well-established wine regions — if the budget allows, there's a 1985 St-Julien on by the glass, but you'll find plenty to sip on a more realistic spectrum. Chinese wines are proudly presented before world wines, with a full page each for whites and reds that represent the country's best growing regions. As you might expect from a high-end steak restaurant, the red selection pays homage to the greats of Burgundy and Bordeaux, with a particularly strong showing from the USA and Australia.

Cuisine: Portuguese

Wine list by Jim Leung

Wine on list: 16630 (7 by the glass)

By the glass: 90- 180 MOP

This list is truly something else. We're talking about almost 17,000 wines. Wine fans who dine here surely end up with their head in this vast list for this entire Portuguese dining experience. It opens with eight pages of Champagne (there are 27 pages dedicated to German ice wine alone) before moving onto the most coveted producers, wines and vintages of the world. Unsurprisingly, France is comprehensively covered, as are other European flagship regions, but the new world gets a decent look in, too. A mind-blowing collection.

Cuisine: French / Modern European

Wine list by Mr.Paul Chen / Mr.Bob Lin

Wine on list: 179 (13 by the glass)

By the glass: 98- 280 RMB

A restaurant that works to the seasons and has a deep focus on the wines of Burgundy. Lovers of Burgundy will feel quite at home here and it's not all about Grand Crus but there is wide range of wines listed. Order a glass of Leflaive Macon Verze from the Maconnais sub-region of Burgundy and take a look at the wider selection. The list does include the wines of Europe and occasionally ventures wider to New Zealand, Australia, USA and does list wines the Chinese regions of Yunnan and Ningxia - definitely worth a look. Some wines don't list grape varieties and you may need to enlist the assistance of the sommelier.

It's a truly global list at Hiro, which sits within The Venetian in Macao. Coveted benchmarks are featured throughout from the likes of Burgundy, Bordeaux and Tuscany, to name just three key regions. But there are plenty of other highlights that are a little more understated – expect everything from Portuguese sparkling and Oregon pinot noir to Argentinian malbec, Chinese standouts and more. The sake selection is a great fit for the Japanese cuisine on offer.

There is a choice aplenty to be found on this modest wine list of 74 which covers some surprisingly large wine territory. It starts and remains focused on France but then you find yourself veering down interesting side roads where Chinese wines and a range of quality international wine names reside. It's a rewarding experience that reveals a lot of choice. Big names mix with small, artisanal family producers, and, prices likewise range from the high end to the affordable. If you are after a DRC Échézeaux Grand Cru 2018 it's here. If you are after a quality Silver Heights cabernet from Helan Mountain in Ningxia, it is also to be enjoyed. Overall, this is a wine lists where the reds are the main attraction.

Hua Ting's wine list reflects deep research, care, and dedication from the sommeliers who curated it. Though extensive, it never feels overwhelming, thanks to the helpful suggestions at the top of each page. Producer spotlights are thoughtfully showcased, while the opening pages feature legendary labels and vintages that have shaped modern wine history. The originality of this list also lies in an extensive offering of alternate formats, one of the most comprehensive offer I've ever seen, and a fresh, yet professional design. Every detail feels meticulously curated, but the Italian selection stands out in particular, revealing a depth of research that goes beyond convention and shows the sommeliers' genuine passion for exploration—and a strong willingness not to play only by celebrated labels.

This wine list highlights a fascinating collection of Portuguese wines, covering every regional aspect, and giving equal importance to white wines, red wines, and fortified wines. It's then continuing with the Spanish and Italian themes, and other crucial global wine regions, such as Champagne, Australia and the Americas. But the jewel in the crown is the impressive collection of red Bordeaux wines, with several Châteaux from the legendary 1982 vintage as well as other stellar years. It's hard to choose between Cheval Blanc, Latour and Lafite! If you would like to explore local specialties, there is a concise list of spirits at the end and some major wine players in the wine offering.

Jade Dragon's wine list is written with an eagle eye, out of precision and respect for some of the most revered names in the wine world. China as a wine region is thoroughly celebrated, championing the dry whites and reds as well as a concise, but noteworthy, list of Baijiu, rice wine and tea. Even so the heart of the list lies in Burgundy and Bordeaux, there is a fascinating list of Italian wines, depicting the likes of Romano Dal Forno, Domenico Clerico and Aldo Conterno via verticals and showcasing their most celebrated vineyards and wines. And if you've always dreamed, like me, of having a wine by the glass served from a Jeroboam, this is the place to be.

A most tempting group of wines by the glass opens this list, so tempting you might wish to simply stay there and enjoy the wines which range from a Chinese sparkling from Chandon, a lip-smacking 2020 Chablis from Daniel-Etienne Defaix, an Eva Fricke trocken riesling from the Rheingau, classic Alain Graillot Crozes-Hermitage and a well-priced IGT red blend from Ornellaia. There aren't many rosés on this list, but the Whispering Angel will work very well across a range of Cantonese dishes offered. The wines of China quite rightly take pride of place at the start of the list followed by a quality group of world wines led by France, Italy, USA and more. The range of Baijiu and yellow rice wine offer an excellent closing drink to the meal.

In there, a wonderful collection of the best drops from Italy and North America, with a wealth of verticals from Tua Rita in Tuscany to Dominus Estate in Napa. The Bordeaux collection highlights every commune and also focuses on stellar châteaux like Palmer. It is worth spending some time browsing this list, but I would personally start at the end, where a magical list of tea lies. Start with a white tea, follow with wine, and then finish with an aged tea. That is what I would do.*

If I travel to China, I want to have local wines with local food, possibly in a setting that will allow me to immerse myself in the local culture of a country blessed with thousands of years of traditions. Jie Xiang Lou list, while looking at the modern side of the world of wine, through a fascinating yet unforced exploration of the best and emerging names of the western wine countries, politely invites you to taste the Chinese flavours through classic and emerging grape varieties, giving them the deserved importance at the beginning of the list. Then, one can only follow with Domaine de la Romanée-Conti and growers' Champagne! It's heartening to see the level of care, attention and dedication put in not only compiling this list, with an handful of carefully selected names from countries like Australia - Bindi and Ochota Barrels are gems that one can only really know if it looks for them- but also in the assurance that either your First Growth from Bordeaux, Baijiu and yellow wine will be served by the sommelier with the outmost care and respect that they deserved.

But it also pays to look between the lines, where the crème de la crème of Burgundy, Bordeaux, Germany, Italy, New Zealand, and many more incredible wine regions are showcased and celebrated. While in Tuscany, you can't miss the Querciabella Batar, and if you fancy the Spanish accent, in Rioja, you can't pass by the Muga Reserva. Also, it will be a shame not to look at the Sake offering closely.*

The Kitchen shares the same wondrous wine list as The Eight, with its encyclopaedic collection of German Rieslings spanning styles, subregions, producers, and even centuries. What sets it apart is the willingness to make fine wines accessible to everyone, just look at the Bordeaux selection, where it is still possible to drink well without spending excessively. The same abundance of ancient wines continues throughout, with the Madeira pages deserving special mention. They are a living testament to the idea that, even as times change and history is rewritten, wine, especially fortified wine, can endure through centuries, wars, and shifts in fashion. This is a wine list that, like a venerable old bottle, needs time to breathe and reveal itself. With patience, its rarest gems emerge, offering a journey through history that connects the evolution of wine to the modern world.

China's Best Aperitif List

Koan is very much a list in two distinct halves. The first half is all about the world of spirits, and it's a most comprehensive listing that includes seven separate flights or journeys embracing whisky, shochu, rum, gin and Asian whiskies. The second half is all about the world of wine. It is listed by grape variety and includes some grapes and wines which we rarely get to see but which work so well with Koan's South-East Asian cuisine. Grapes such as chenin blanc, aromatic whites such as torrontes, petit manseng and reds such as merlot, malbec, barbera and carmenere and more can be found here from right across the world. It is slightly daring and it works so well.

A calibrated and respectful approach has been taken for both white and red wines; it's so lovely to see that white wines have also been given a voice and are allowed to speak all their different idioms. I'm particularly intrigued by the exhaustive selection of Italian whites, travelling from North to South and without forgetting the islands, as well as the exploration of each French region and the mind-blowing majority of mature vintages when in the Bordeaux red section. The Baijiu offering is commendable, and the separate tea selection makes you want to discover more about this ancient, noble beverage.*

L'OX BY FLO

Wine on list: 189 (12 by the glass)
By the glass: 75- 108 RMB

Set to the relaxed pasta, pizza and charcuterie feel of Jean-Georges Italian-inspired food menu, the wine list hits the right vibe with its mix of fresh, young Italian whites and savoury, food-friendly reds. Indeed, the entire list boasts the same good drinking approach whether the wines are from Italy or China, France, Spain, South America, Australia or New Zealand. The sommeliers have sought out some high quality, small family wine estates rarely seen on lists and they offer some particularly exciting drinking opportunities, names like Best's, Coriole, Stephane Ogier, Delas, Fratelli, Bürklin Wolf and more. The cocktails and aperitifs are a fun bunch. Try the Prosecco Infusions for something different.

Cuisine: Portuguese

Wine list by Limin Chen (Winnie)

Wine on list: 1804 (42 by the glass)

By the glass: 100- 5500 MOP

Macau has always intrigued me with its rich history, rooted in two cultures, Chinese and Portuguese, so distant, yet working together in remarkable harmony. Perusing the Mesa wine list, one begins to sense the city's spirit. It opens with an original and irresistibly inviting cocktail selection, where names, ingredients, and recipes are thoughtfully crafted to let you drink its history. The commitment to sustainability is equally striking: the bar relies on ecoSpirits, whose low-carbon, low-waste packaging shapes a more responsible way of drinking. This is a glimpse of the future I want to live in. The Portuguese selection is exceptional, exploring the worlds of still, sparkling, and fortified wines with care and precision, though it is the 1882 Graham's Ne Oubliette Port that inevitably captures all my attention. And should you ever feel overwhelmed, the sommelier team is there to guide you with just the right balance of professionalism and savoir-faire.

Wine list by Arnaud Echalié

Wine on list: 280 (15 by the glass)

By the glass: 80- 198 MOP

The Mews wine list reflects the discerning manner of the sommelier, already observed in other noteworthy establishments such as La Chine and Lotus Palace. In here, the style is slightly different, with a more traditional layout and a noticeable, concise offering, without missing the most beloved, classic labels from both worlds. If you are unsure what to choose, there is an exhaustive "recommendation" list that will facilitate your choice, already filtering for you what's "cool" to drink at the moment. I would personally start with Planeta "La Segreta" and follow with a Gérard Bertrand, Plantabelle, Cabrières.

MING COURT, CORDIS, HONG KONG

By the glass: 165- 380 HKD

Ming Court's glass-walled walk-in wine cellar holds more than 300 wines from 15 countries and 100+ regions. A refined Cantonese restaurant located on the 6th floor of the Cordis Hotel in Mong Kok, sommeliers here are known for their thoughtful wine pairings. By the glass, reliable entries from the likes of New Zealand's Felton Road and Greystone Estate alongside Burgundy, Bordeaux and of course, Champagne. France leads the charge for the bottle selection but peer closer and you'll find far-flung entries from Hungary, Slovenia and even Morocco, too.

MINGJIA·QUJIANG 🍷🍷

Wine list by Shusen Jing
Wine on list: 10 (69 by the glass)
By the glass: 78- 318 RMB

China's Best Medium List (max 100)

With a unique and thoughtful focus on flavours and themes, the high-quality Ming Jia Shenian drinks selection is really remarkable. For a drinker, the concepts of how time, soil or sunshine might influence how a wine tastes are wonderfully played out here, with an offering that is so carefully curated and with few missteps. A wonderful list!

MINGJIA SHIJI 🍷🍷

Wine on list: 332 (23 by the glass)
By the glass: 88- 158 RMB

It's always a pleasure to discover a wine list that features unexpected wines, and the diverse offering from Ming Jia Shiji does that several times over. From well-priced Australian Shiraz to the best of German Riesling, this list offers so much depth and interest. The wish here is for a slight freshen up of the white wines, with some options needing to be consumed soon.

MIZUMI, WYNN PALACE 🍷🍷🍷

Cuisine: Contemporary Japanese
Wine list by Sunny Xu / Thomas Guo
Wine on list: 950 (30 by the glass)
By the glass: 90- 490 MOP

China's Best Sake List

China is thoughtfully celebrated across the pages, receiving the respect it deserves as a wine country, though the true strength of the Mizumi list lies in its extensive and outstanding sake collection. The international selection is equally remarkable, shared with Lakeview Palace, and showcases a wealth of vintages, regions, legendary producers, and trailblazers. Particularly notable are the foray into Swiss wines, the captivating French offerings that go beyond the dominant regions of Champagne, Burgundy, and Bordeaux, and the inclusion of the most illustrious names from the USA and Italy—further feathers in the cap of this restaurant.

MORNING COMMUNITY BISTRO

Wine list by Zhang Jiajia

Wine on list: 120 (8 by the glass)

By the glass: 40- 60 RMB

Don't let the name fool you, Morning Community Bistro serves up tempting Guizhou dishes well into the night. This thriving new venue in Guiyang has a contemporary approach, with a selection of natural wine alongside classic examples from across the globe. There's a lot to explore in the 23 page list with an engaging mix of lesser-known, quality producers. Excellent curation shows a refined understanding of pairing with the sour and spicy flavours of the cuisine.

MOUTON

木桐莊

Wine list by Ms.Shang Xuangyu

Wine on list: 75 (8 by the glass)

By the glass: 40- 125 RMB

Established in 2025 and already offering a drinks list that features plenty of interest, the Mouton selection promises much. Indeed there is a feel that everything here is chosen for a reason, especially the Italian wines which typically offer value and quality. Looking forward, it would be wonderful to see some options for drinking by the glass and non wine products to enhance the Mouton list even more.

Cuisine: Japanese Cuisine

Wine list by Eric Yang

Wine on list: 114 (16 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 135 RMB

Part of the Shangri-La Beijing's array of quality dining options, the Nishimura drinks offering also gives plenty of wines that will pair nicely with a Japanese-focused menu. Led by sparkling and white wines, this selection taps into the central Shangri-La master for depth and is complemented by some very specific extras (like Japanese beers). Indeed, it's wonderful to see beautiful bottles of sake on this drinks list too, with the sake range notably grand.

NORTH, THE VENETIAN MACAO 🍷🍷🍷

Cuisine: China's Northeast cuisine
Wine list by Arnaud Echalié
Wine on list: 597 (15 by the glass)
By the glass: 80- 198 MOP

Almost 600 wines are on offer at The Venetian's North, where the selections cover a lot of global ground. Old-world wines are particularly well represented, with a lean to France and Italy, but many more key wine countries and their various regions are also on show. Diners are spoilt for choice with wines from the US, while Australian and NZ releases also feature. It all sits very comfortably alongside the venue's northern Chinese cuisine.

NORTH PALACE, THE LONDONER MACAO

北方鳴苑

Cuisine: Northern Chinese
Wine list by Arnaud Echalié
Wine on list: 610 (15 by the glass)
By the glass: 80- 198 MOP

The Londoner has an impressive master wine list, and its northern Chinese restaurant North Palace benefits greatly from the selections. Here, the focus is spread across the world's great regions, and there's plenty of temptation to go all out. But for anyone not necessarily seeking a wine like the 2006 Domaine de-la Romaneeee-Conti Richebourg, there's still a lot to explore and enjoy here. This might mean choosing an Austrian grüner, Sicilian nero, Chilean merlot or something else entirely; it all lines up nicely with this menu.

NOTTI 🍷🍷🍷

Cuisine: Italian Cuisine
Wine list by Karl Mo/Arneis Wu
Wine on list: 428 (14 by the glass)
By the glass: 88- 228 RMB

A smart, intelligent and enticing wine list devoted principally to Italian wines, but the pulse doesn't weaken as the list goes on to explore other countries and their wines. It's a strong, all-round wine list of good depth and breadth. The Italians shine and are divided into northern, central and southern regions. Some of that country's rising stars can be found here, together with the odd skin contact orange and low intervention wine. There are also some of the established, well-known quality names we simply love to see, names such as Scavino, Quintarelli, Vajra, Pio Cesare, Sandrone and Biondi Santi and more. The supporting wine cast includes a good number of French, Chinese and New World wines. Overall, there is plenty of good drinking to enjoy here.

NUITS 🍷🍷🍷

Cuisine: Japanese

Wine list by Daniel Wang

Wine on list: 74 (10 by the glass)

By the glass: 59- 118 RMB

Recently launched in 2024, Omakase Moto brings a relatively small wine list of 74 wines to its diners. In tune with its cuisine, it presents sake and the odd Japanese wine while looking to Europe and France for a core set of wines that nicely match the delicacy of flavours of its Japanese food. Chinese wines from Château Nine Peaks and JiangYu are also included. Along with the well-priced offerings of international wines the odd superstar wine producer can be found - Opus One, Les Forts de Latour, Domaine Clos de Tart and Dom Perignon.

THE ONE RESTAURANT & BAR

Cuisine: French Cuisine

Wine list by Ms. KK Liu

Wine on list: 128 (18 by the glass)

By the glass: 60- 115 RMB

The One is as much a bar as a restaurant, and this list reflects a focus that goes well beyond traditional wine and food pairing. That translates into an excellent whisky selection, cocktails and mocktails for a start. The wine offering is packed full of eclectic choices and charisma too, from Torrontés by the glass to a cheekily named 'Anything But Chardonnay' white section.

ORIGINE BISTRO

Cuisine: Italian Fusion Cuisine

Wine list by Ms. Shang Xuanguyu

Wine on list: 70 (6 by the glass)

By the glass: 40- 128 RMB

Continuing an upward trajectory of improvement, the Origine Bistro list continues to evolve on the back of an expanded international wine selection that goes beyond the French focus to cover solid Italian choices and plenty of minimal intervention interest. While the non-wine drinks are ably covered, a strong selection by the glass would make a very welcome addition here.

OSSIANO RESTAURANT & BAR, ATLANTIS

Cuisine: Italian cuisine

Wine list by Vincent Zhu

Wine on list: 274 (6 by the glass)

By the glass: 108- 168 RMB

With its underwater themed restaurant complete with full size aquarium and roving stingrays, sharks and fish, Ossiano sets an intriguing backdrop to enjoy good wine and food. The wine list sets its sights on aged wines, particularly from France and Italy, and does a great job showcasing Barolo and Bordeaux. The range of wines by the glass is quite small but also includes a 2017 and 2018 Chianti Classico DOCG Borgo San Felice. The international wine list covers the wine world but if, in doubt, head straight to the Recommendations From The Sommelier section for guidance on wines from New Zealand, Australia, Italy and France.

Cuisine: New style food and drink fusion cuisine

Wine list by Ms.Ava / Ms.Kiinie

Wine on list: 27 (7 by the glass)

By the glass: 58- 438 RMB

Paired brings an international wine bar experience to Chengdu with its imaginative, seasonally inspired fusion cuisine. As the name suggests, the menu is designed to pair with a beautifully curated seven-glass wine flight. If you prefer to choose your own adventure, the concise, cleverly compiled, list offers an enticing selection, including a small range of rice wine from China and Japan. Be sure to book ahead, just 12 counter seats surround the open kitchen.

Wine on list: 26 (4 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 438 RMB

What Pairedd Wing lacks in quantity, it makes up in quality. This small wine list of 26 wines may not be big on choice and centers mostly on France with support from Italy, Spain and China, but it does come with some big names, aged wines and real interest for vinophiles. Krug, Leflaive, Cos d'Estournel, Pontet-Canet, Marques de Riscal, Quintarelli, Ao Yun and more, are scattered temptingly across the list together with a range of smart wines.

With traditional Italian cuisine starring on the menu, Paletto gets to showcase some impressive Italian wines from right across the country. from some smart Soave in the Veneto and arneis of Piedmont through to Sicilian nerello mascalese and Sardinian canonau and a whole lot more. The highlights are definitely to be found in reds of Piedmont and Tuscany. A feature page devoted to the wines of China is also not to be missed. All up, Paletto brings a lot of excitement to its wine list and, importantly, it can be found across a range of price points.

With traditional Cantonese fare that includes goose gizzard, coffee goose liver and spicy numbing snowflake beef, it might be best to head straight to the Wine Pairings section of the wine list and take the professional advice of the sommelier. In this case, wines include an Alsatian gewürztraminer, a pale cream sherry from Jerez and another Alsatian gewürztraminer. The main list works well with Puyue's cuisine with an emphasis on the wines of France with a small but enticing selection of internationals. For some local touches, seek out the Chinese wines listing. There is also a section towards the end of the list offering Chinese rice wines, liquors and spirits.

Wine on list: 105 (12 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 98 RMB

In line with its western food menu, this wine list looks to France for its principal sourcing with a focus on Burgundy. However, it is the list of Chinese wines that really steals the show with 24 wines and styles that take in sparkling wines through to whites, rosés and reds right across four main wine regions: Ningxia, Yunnan, Xinjiang and Shandong. It's an exciting, well-priced selection of wines that deserves your attention. While Rewild is a relatively new (2023) and offers a small list (105 wines), it packs a lot in, including some nicely aged Italian, Australian and French red wines worth seeking out.

Part of the triad—The Eight, The Kitchen, and Robuchon au Dôme—this monumental master list is a true mausoleum of fine wine: it invites quiet respect and time to absorb its beauty. By-the-glass offerings speak fluent French, led by benchmark producers from the country's great regions. I'll repeat myself: the monumental German Riesling collection warrants a dedicated exploration. The Loire and Rhône line-ups are equally eye-catching, reaching well beyond the usual suspects and competing with the likes of Champagne, Burgundy and Bordeaux in vintages and quality. Lean on critic scores to focus your choices, price isn't a perfect proxy for quality. There are many decisions to make here; take your time and choose the experience you'll want to remember.

By the glass: 115- 308 RMB

Best Wine List - Eastern China (Shanghai etc)
China's Best Chinese Restaurant List

While it is clear from the start that this is a list which features some great Burgundies, other regions, especially such as Bordeaux, are far from neglected. both Burgundy and Bordeaux are also paid tribute with New World versions of those wines. There is, of course, so much more to this thrilling and competently curated list.

Always a pleasure to see a collection of fine champagnes on a wine list, much more so when there are some real bargains among them. The list ranges far and wide – you are as likely to find a Chinese Chardonnay as one from the Napa, a German Spatburgunder as a Margaret River Shiraz.

SUNTORY JAPANESE CUISINE & WHISKY

Cuisine: Japanese

Wine list by Takayoshi Aoki / Binks Ma / Louise Liu

Wine on list: 300 (14 by the glass)

By the glass: 130- 400 RMB

When one finds names like Pyramid Valley, Lustau, JJ Prum and Sandrone amongst the wines by the glass, even if it is a tight ship, there is reasonable for optimism, justifiably so. Wineries like Lagrange and Robert Weil are heavily featured. Among an array of superb wines, the eye turns to the Burgundies, although Bordeaux lovers may have other ideas. Needless to say, a stellar collection of whiskies.

SUPARNIN 🍷🍷🍷

Wine list by Mr. Thomas Zhou

Wine on list: 656 (24 by the glass)

By the glass: 68- 600 RMB

Suparnin seeks to create an "encounter between the heart and the taste buds" with its wine list. It's a wide ranging encounter, too, starting with an impressively large collection of Chinese wines before reaching out to some of the biggest and brightest stars of the wine world. Wines by the glass offers an excellent microcosm of the bigger list with a Chinese sparkling wine, a Grosses Gewächs German riesling, Spanish albariño, aged Premier Cru Burgundy and a Grand Cru Alsatian gewürztraminer. A comprehensive wine list follows offering some impressively in-depth categories of Champagne, Burgundy and Bordeaux. Whisky and gin lovers are going to be delighted by the super large offering of spirits and brandies offered here.

Cuisine: Omakase

Wine list by Mr. Nigel Chan / Mr. Michael Ye

Wine on list: 45 (4 by the glass)

By the glass: 138- 568 MOP

Sushi Kinetsu keeps things tight with its omakase menu as well as its wine list. The selection puts the spotlight on sake, which is pitch-perfect for the dishes, and Champagne features largely, too – another great fit for the delicate food. White Burgundies make up most of the offerings, but aromatic whites from Alsace, the Loire and Germany are also in the mix. Five red Burgundies round it out, along with a handful of Japanese whiskies.

Cuisine: Japanese Cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Skylar Ye / Mr. Warran Chan

Wine on list: 300 (11 by the glass)

By the glass: 100- 538 HKD

The cuisine is Japanese and the wines predominately French at this 12-seat sushi-ya in Hong Kong's Central district. Dom Pérignon leads the charge for Champagne – come for Sunday omakase, and it can bottomless – on a sparkling selection mostly dominated by large maisons with a few cult producers (Jacques Selosse; Ulysse Collin). Burgundy and the Loire are the main game here, but it's the full-page of Weingut Keller rieslings, including the almost impossible to buy G-Max Trocken, that caught our eye.

Cuisine: Omakase

Wine list by Cassie Hu

Wine on list: 40 (10 by the glass)

By the glass: 66- 88 RMB

You are welcomed to Sushi Matsuiwa in Chengdu by a beautiful Japanese garden. However, this is no traditional Japanese restaurant. The set menu features strong international influences underpinned by Japanese cooking techniques; including charcoal grilled Iberian pork ribs or Australian Wagyu rolls. While the wine list is small, 40 by the bottle and 3 by the glass, the international range offers diversity of styles and regions.

Cuisine: American Surf & Turf Cabaret

Wine list by Amy Pan / Thomas Guo

Wine on list: 950 (30 by the glass)

By the glass: 90- 490 MOP

This considered list covers a wealth of wine-growing nations and the regions within them, and the wines represent the absolute pinnacle of quality. However, it might be the breadth of the Chinese wines that trumps them; the listings stretch over almost 10 pages, spanning sparklings, whites, reds and sweet styles. And while superstar old-world regions and producers are showcased (back vintages included), there's plenty of interest from other places, such a whole page of wines from Switzerland. There's a lot to explore on this smart list, which slots in just fine with the steak-heavy menu.

Wine list by Paul Guan / Lincoln Lin

Wine on list: 437 (19 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 580 RMB

The innovative cuisine served at Taian Table is matched to a wine list classic in scope, starring a large selection of French wines where names such as Rousseau, Dujac, Roumier, Méo-Camuzet, Drouhin and Coche-Dury jump from the page. It's an impressive listing focusing on Burgundy and, in keeping with the quality of wines, expect some equally impressive price tags. The list can be a place of discovery, too, and so look to the wines from the New World, including the U.S., Australia, New Zealand, Chile and Argentina. A small band of Chinese wines completes the list.

Wine on list: 340 (16 by the glass)
By the glass: 70- 540 MOP

The focus at The Tasting Room is on the chargrilled steaks brought in from the US, so it's a nice touch that this wine list delivers a significant selection of American wines to go with them. These include highlight wines from California, Oregon and Washington, but other top picks feature from the likes of South Africa, South America, France and Italy, plus a solid showing from Australia, too. But that's only if diners can move past the cocktails on this list – five riffs on the Negroni, signature cocktails balancing fun and flavour, and timeless classics make a compelling case for not going any further.

At Tavola in Beijing, traditional Italian dishes are embellished with local ingredients; the result of an east meets west culinary partnership. Pasta and woodfired pizzas lead the way to substantial seafood and meat options, lifted by creative Chinese flavours. The wine list too features Italy, with some excellent representation across a broad range of regions; from the international superstars to lesser known. This diversity continues with a small international range including some local drops.

A new restaurant in 2025 devoted to Cantonese cuisine and the wine list works in line accordingly, showcasing a range of aromatic whites and medium bodied red wines with the accent heavily on chardonnay, pinot noir and cabernet sauvignon. Expect an extensive array of Burgundy and Bordeaux wines, a select group of Chinese wines and a sprinkling of quality names from the rest of the larger wine world. The list comes complete with a large collection of Chinese spirits and rice wines.

Wine list by Kelly Fan
Wine on list: 434 (15 by the glass)
By the glass: 55- 238 MOP

When a wine list opens with a 60-vintage collection of Chateau Latour, you know you're in for something special, and that's exactly what you get at Tenmasa. This vertical of the Bordeaux icon stretches from 1945 to 2005, and while many other pinnacle wines feature on this list, there's also an impressive representation of countries, regions and styles that aren't all in the top tier of prices. Expect whites and reds from the old world and new – think Portugal, Italy and Germany, Chile, NZ, Australia and more – plus a comprehensive sake selection. It all fits beautifully with the refined Japanese menu.

Another top wine list from the Top Somm Studio curated by founder, Yang Lu. Celebrates wines from across the world at all price points, the first part of the list, Innovation, is organised by price making it easy to dip in and enjoy with its well-priced, approachable styles. The second half of the list, Tradition, is all about moving up and discovering some of the world's great vinous superstars from France, USA, Italy, Germany, Australia and China. It's an exciting mix. Wine Pairings with some tricky flavour mixes like braised NZ abalone with oyster sauce and pan-baked abalone and goose with perilla, come with a range of wine choices well worth considering. Chinese wines - including an introduction and map - are another excellent feature on this sophisticated, smart and engaging wine list.

It is fair to say that this is one of the more individual presentations of wine that we have seen, part fun, part serious and set into Chapters with each Chapter introduced by a famous female actor. It's novel and a very different approach - Champagne is represented by Grace Kelly, Burgundy by Greta Garbo, the Loire by Josephine Baker, Mae West represents grenache and Gong Li is representative of China and there's plenty more. But aside from the fun, lies a wine list devoted to the wines of France. If you can draw yourself away from France, it is worthwhile taking a look at the Chinese, Italian and Spanish selection of wines.

Wine list by Yupei Xiao

Wine on list: 265 (9 by the glass)

By the glass: 78- 198 RMB

New World wines are to the fore here, especially those from the Napa Valley and other parts of America, but the fine offerings from across European soon join them. If one had to select the standout, it might just be the very fine champagnes. Plenty here for both the traditionalist and the adventurous wine lover.

Wine list by Mr.Gaston Ba

Wine on list: 466 (11 by the glass)

By the glass: 78- 198 RMB

Reflecting a menu that goes long on US-style steak and grill options, the drinks list at Wolfgang's Steakhouse Huamao notably features a selection that goes long on fine American wines with great success. importantly, the wine offering here goes beyond just an impressive list of big Napa Cabernet to include wines from the Russian River Valley, Washington, Monterey and more, not forgetting a broader range of global classics to complement. A close eye on accurate vintages would be welcome here, especially as the range of aged reds is notably fine.

Cuisine: Modern Chaoshan cuisine

Wine list by Mr. Lucas Liang Hao

Wine on list: 131 (7 by the glass)

By the glass: 180- 280 RMB

A beautifully presented food menu specialising in modern Chaoshan cuisine comes complete with some handy food and wine matching suggestions. The recommended selections are by style, something to keep in mind as you drill down to individual producers on the wine list. This is also a smart, nicely presented selection of wines led by France and a first rate group of quality Champagnes and Burgundies. Aromatic whites, particularly from Germany, are a wonderful match to a lot of the finer seafood and white meat dishes offered here, while richer, more savoury Italian reds are naturals for the darker meats. Whisk/ey lovers are in for a real treat with a full range of extensive offerings from Scotland, Japan and Taiwan.

A wine list very much inspired by the history of the region and the role of international consulates which have been in the area since the 19th Century. Hence, countries with consulates take a large swathe of the list. Each country listed - from France, Spain and Portugal through to Austria and the USA - are grouped with a small selection of their wines. They are joined by a group of Chinese wines from Ningxia, Yunnan and Xinjiang and include marselan, the Chinese signature red grape that is making a big name for itself. Sommelier Yang Lu of Top Somm Studio lists some favourite wines to consider, and for those seeking something special and celebratory head to The Prestige Wine List. This list meets a range of wines and price points from the affordable and approachable to the legendary.

Wine list by Mr. 杨攀军

Wine on list: 225 (4 by the glass)

By the glass: 178- 208 RMB

Tapping into the glorious diversity of modern hotpot cuisine, the offering at Xiaoshihuoguo. It is eclectic and interesting, with a curated selection that covers fine wine from both classic and emerging producers. Begin with the well-chosen Sommelier's Recommendations for an ideal introduction to this comprehensive wine list, and then explore a selection that encompasses a range of highly regarded, yet lesser-known, global labels, as well as modern icons. The selection here also concludes with a fine sake and whisky offering to complete the experience.

Wine list by Alan Zhong

Wine on list: 147 (3 by the glass)

By the glass: 98- 98 RMB

A relatively new wine list (2023) that works hand in hand with a food menu devoted to the grill and featuring plenty of meat dishes. The meat theme is continued on the wine list with wines by the glass from Austrian wine producer, Meinklang, whose labels feature a suitably beefy theme. French wines lie at the core of the list with some of the richer Rhône Valley, Bordeaux, Italian and Spanish red wines working particularly well with the range of red meats offered on the menu. For those in celebratory mode, head straight to the Grand Cru Burgundy selections where some very special drinking experiences can be enjoyed.

Cuisine: Innovative Chinese

Wine list by Dennis Zhu

Wine on list: 340 (20 by the glass)

By the glass: 95- 540 MOP

It's a far-reaching list at Yi, with both old world and new well represented across some serious – and seriously good – wines. There may be a French lean to the selections, with Bordeaux, Burgundy and the Rhône on show, but it's not at the expense of other European greats from the likes of Italy, Portugal, Spain and more. There's still room for an array of new-world wines, and whether it's a Japanese white, Californian pinot or perhaps even a cabernet blend from Ningxia, it's all there to complement the venue's innovative Chinese cuisine.

Wine list by Yang Lu-Top Somm Studio

Wine on list: 133 (6 by the glass)

By the glass: 138- 298 RMB

Guests are treated to some special features on this list, from the set wine pairings – a choice of three or five wines – to the specially selected sommelier's discovery wines that come with detailed notes on each one. There's also a prestige wine section of greats, while a choice of Chinese highlights are an excellent fit for the Huaiyang cuisine. There's a focus on the wines of Europe, but the list still covers a diversity of regions and styles. A tight selection of dessert wines, sake and baiju brings it home.

Cuisine: Refined Cantonese

Wine list by Mr.Jayden Tang

Wine on list: 228 (9 by the glass)

By the glass: 108- 238 RMB

Continuing the high standard established in 2024, the compelling Yi Pavilion wine and drinks list is an essay in ambition and attention to detail, offering wines that one might not expect to see. You need only to witness the names on the selection of wines by the glass, with vintages from Ulysse Colin, Pyramid Valley and Hubert Lamy reflecting a keen eye for quality. Strong on Champagne, Burgundy, German whites and a fine array of Chinese wines, this remains a top-flight wine and drinks list.

Wine list by Suyen Lee

Wine on list: 140 (8 by the glass)

By the glass: 120- 258 RMB

Yone puts the spotlight on fine Japanese cuisine, so it's a treat to get such a considered, extensive list of sakes to go with it, grouped into diner-friendly categories, such as 'earthy and umami' and 'fruit and flower'. Diners wouldn't be blamed for sticking solely with the sakes, but it would be a shame not to venture into the wines on this list. It's a relatively concise selection that does well to reflect a wide spread of wine-growing nations and styles, also including China, which is front and centre among the options by the glass, too.
